Happy Thanksgiving

- Do you think Trump's crazy uncle has to train all year for Thanksgiving?
- Out of respect for Saudi Arabia, Trump's Turkey gets carved with a bone saw.
- You know who I really feel sorry for during this Romaine lettuce scare? Chris Christie. What's he going to eat? Besides everything else.

Stocking Stuffer

Republican Congressman Tom MacArthur at last year's town hall meeting where our guest Geoffrey Ginter called him out for trying to gut Obamacare. MacArthur just lost to Democrat Andy Kim.

How To Sign Up For Obamacare

Open enrollment for Obamacare has started. Did you know that? Probably not, because the GOP has cut the funding for publicizing Obamacare. It's also closed the enrollment window, and they got rid of the individual mandate which means you no longer face fines for failing to have health insurance.

Is the Republican plan to gut Obamacare working?

According to the latest stats, Obamacare seems to be in trouble. The number of consumers signing up for Obamacare continues to drop. In week 3 of open enrollment, between Sunday, November

Democrats Always Give Up Too Early

The way they vote and count the vote in Florida and Georgia violates equal protection under the law guaranteed by the 14th amendment. Nelson and Abrams conceded not for the sake of the country but for the sake of the status quo. These weren't their elections to concede. Voter suppression is real, and it's time for the Dems to rip it wide open or get out of the party. Nelson and Abrams are tools for conceding. Go make money in the private sector you two and perpetuate the rot.

-David On The Midterms

11th and Saturday, November 17th, about 750,000 Americans selected plans using www.HealthCare.gov. Compare that to about 798,000 a year ago.

So please sign up. Obamacare is far, far from perfect. But we need to send a message to Washington that we need Obamacare.

The Obamacare Enforcer

Geoffrey Ginter is probably the loudest champion for Obamacare and of course universal health insurance. He's maybe the most informed. He joined us from New Jersey's third congressional district.

You might remember Geoffrey when he stood up at a town hall meeting last year and warned G.O.P. Congressman Tom MacArthur that even though MacArthur won his seat by 20 points in 2016 his days were now numbered after he introduced legislation last Spring to defang Obamacare. Geoffrey was right. Congressman MacArthur was defeated this month by Democrat Andy Kim.

Here are excerpts from our conversation:

David: For more on this we were joined by the enforcer. Geoffrey Ginter is a New Jersey strong man who defeated

Congressman Thomas MacArthur during this month's midterms and replaced him with Democrat Andy Kim.

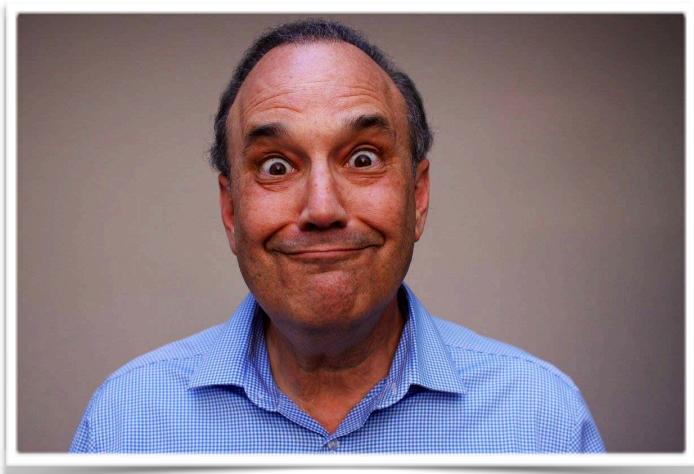

Geoffrey: Now, I should point out that was not my doing.

David: Yes, it was your doing. You did that. You are responsible for Andy Kim getting elected to Geoffrey: No matter what anyone says, I got up, I said what I said, and you can take that for what it is. If it was only me, it would never have happened.

It was the doing of the entire New Jersey third congressional district.

David Feldman seen here sitting on a large block of ice.

David: Hey, if I say you did it, then you did. So I say YOU did it. Ralph Nader says it takes 1%, and in your case it takes one man. So Andy Kim is gonna be our new congressman thanks to you.

Geoffrey: Thanks to all of us, but thank you.

David: You know I have a theory about you.

Geoffrey: Okay.

David: My theory is that you're entirely motivated by pure rage. My theory about what happened when you got up and spoke is your car broke down you were fighting with your wife. You saw something going on and suspected you could get some free coffee and cookies you so went into that town hall meeting with Republican Congressman Tommy McArthur. They accidentally handed you a microphone and you just laid into him just to vent and scream. I don't think you care about healthcare. I think you just wanted to yell at someone that day.

Geoffrey: The only thing you got right there is that they accidentally handed me a microphone.

David: You have until December 15th to buy your insurance through healthcare.gov. Your plan will start January 1st. For more information go to healthcare.gov or call the hotline at 1-800-392-9860. Thanks Jeffrey. I suggest everyone go to You Tube and type in Jeffrey Ginter and watch this man speak truth to power. Thank you.

Geoffrey: Thanks David.
